Medik8 Special - Starter Packs

Medik8 Redness Starter Pack - Only $59

Red, reactive skin is typically induced by hypersensitivity of the skin, a trait that can be attributed to a severely impaired skin barrier. When the skin's protective function is diminished, it causes the immune system to overreact to everyday aggressors, and redness ensues as a result of inflammation, the swelling of blood vessels near the surface of the skin and the formation of visible capillaries.

At Medik8, our redness solution range is designed to repair the skin on a cellular level, ensuring that the lipid barrier is restored to its full protective function. This eliminates aggravation from environmental irritants and increases skin density to reduce the visibility of blood vessels and capillaries. Alongside this, we've utilised the best calming actives to reduce inflammation and combat swelling within the skin. With continued use, redness is significantly reduced and discomfort in the form of itching, stinging and burning is effectively soothed.

Medik8 Special - Starter Packs

Medik8 Blemish Starter Pack - Only $59

All blemishes, from whiteheads to blackheads, are caused by three contributing factors: the overproduction of sebum, the accumulation of dead skin cells and the build-up of specific strains of bacteria.

Through years of extensive research and development, Medik8 has created a comprehensive skincare system that effectively targets all three factors to prevent breakouts whilst nurturing inflamed, irritated skin to its optimum state of health.

With continued use, blemishes are diminished, the healing process is accelerated and post-inflammatory scarring (hyperpigmentation) is reduced. All of which is achieved without compromising the skin's delicate lipid barriers.

Medik8 Special - Starter Packs

Medik8 Ageing Starter Pack - Only $69.90

Aged skin can be attributed to a multitude of variables. All of which, fall into two separate pathways: intrinsic and extrinsic ageing. The former refers to genetic disposition and the latter speaks to environmental exposure such as UV rays and pollution. Both contribute to a decline in collagen production and the moisture-retention capacity of the skin.

In order to effectively fight against the signs of ageing, Medik8 researchers have developed a core philosophy that offers optimum protection and advanced restoration. Using a powerful combination of potent antioxidants, reparative retinoids and ultra-exfoliating hydroxy acids, it rehabilitates cellular regeneration to smooth away fine lines and wrinkles whilst protecting against future sun damage and pollution.
